HARDING DOESN'T DENY CANDIDACY

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Palm Beach, Fla., March 19.—Apparently satisfied to let stand unqualified and uncontested, the announcement of his 1924 candidacy, President Harding sought solitude in fishing today. He was accompanied only by General Charles G. Dawes, one of his closest personal friends, and principal political advisers.

There is reason to believe, however, that President Harding is not displeased with the Daugherty announcement and that the attorney general spoke advisedly when he asserted so positively that Mr. Harding would be a candidate to succeed himself two years hence.

HOBART SUSTAINS GREATEST LOSSES

As Result of Wind Storm Last Week—Large Barn Ruined at South Kortright Also.

Latest reports on the damage done by the wind storm which struck Delaware county and vicinity last week would indicate that the greatest amount was sustained by the village of Hobart. On the farm of Charles Pangbun on Rosey Brook the barn was blown down, burying beneath the wreckage 24 cows, a team of horses, a Ford car and large quantity of farming implements. It requires all day Friday for a large force of men to reach all the animals when it was found that eight of the cows had been killed and another so badly injured that it may die. The horses were not injured. The loss will be large. There is scarcely a house or barn in the village of the village, which escaped the damage, the windows being broken, chimneys torn off or roofs damaged. Trees were blown down and telephone and telegraph service practically stopped until restored in part on Friday.

On the J. Harpe farm at South Kortright, the newly built barn, erected last summer to replace the one burned last spring, which was not quite completed and in which no stock was housed, was also laid flat by the wind. It was a large barn built to accommodate 100 head of cattle and the loss will be large.

ATTENDANCE AT SHOW A RECORD

With Roads and Weather Very Unfavorable 754 More Persons Saw Auto Exhibits Than Last Year.

With a total attendance of 4,867, which is 754 greater than last year, the automobile show came to a close on Saturday night with the banner day of the three, the Saturday attendance being 2,159. The show was the best ever held in Kingston. The decorations were better, the variety of cars was greater and the accessory exhibits more extensive and attractive. The printed program of the Kingston show is in a class by itself and is preserved by most persons who got one until they receive another at the next show. Men from all over the country say it is the best in America.

Unless President John R. Millard open the next meeting of the Kingston Automobile Association with the words, "I told you so," nearly two months ago, when differences in opinion as to almost everything pertaining to the show were rampant, Mr. Millard ignored all predictions of failure and asserted: "Everything will be all right and everybody is going to be happy and satisfied with this show. It is going to be the best show we ever had."

Everything was all right. Everybody is satisfied and happy and it was the best automobile show ever held in Kingston.

What more can anyone ask of a prophet?

FIVE DIE IN MIDWEST BLIZZARD; ROADS TIED UP; CROPS HARD HIT

Nearly Zero in Kentucky—Shipping, Trains, Peaches, Potatoes, Livestock and Ball Clubs Among Sufferers to Extent of Many Million Dollars—Three Children Do Not Return From Mail Box.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Chicago, March 19.—Disrupted railroad transportation, crippled wire communication, crop losses calculated in the millions, zero weather and a death list of at least five men, was left in the wake today of a severe blizzard which swept the middle west. The storm appeared over Montana, dipped into Colorado and Nebraska, swept eastward through Iowa and Illinois and is now whirling across Indiana into the southeast.

In several states the blizzard was referred to as "the worst storm in a quarter of a century."

The downward lurch of the thermometer brought the mercury in many cities to the zero mark. Sub-zero weather was predicted for tonight in the Great Lakes region. The mercury dropped forty degrees in 24 hours.

Trains were reported stalled and hours behind time by railroads running into Chicago. Two engines were used on many trains to fight the huge snow drifts in the west. Trains running eastward from Chicago, were cut in half in many instances, to avoid delays. Freight embargoes were announced by several railroads over certain sections of their lines.

Crops in western states were badly hit. The potato crop in Kansas was dealt a severe blow and the peach crop in Oklahoma sustained at least $2,000,000 damage.

Missouri recorded the coldest March weather in its history. Lake shipping in the Great Lakes region was crippled. Many boats were damaged and blocked by ice.

Major League baseball clubs, training in Texas, were forced to call off practice and keep the athletes off the wind-swept diamonds.

At Rockford, Ill., an unidentified man was found dead in a snow bank. At Baxter, Colo., three children on their way to a mail box, were overtaken by the storm and they perished. At Kutch, Colo., a man died of exposure.

Freezing weather, with zero and in some instances below zero temperatures were reported from many points this morning.

The storm which swept such a large part of the country had a cyclonic whirl to it, accentuating its destructiveness.

The cold wave that came in its wake will have passed and the balmy weather returned by Wednesday, it was predicted by the weather bureau here today.

Des Moines, Ia., March 19.—Iowa awoke under another blanket of drifted snow today.

Trains over all lines are badly delayed or annulled.

Rock Island lines from Kansas City and Minneapolis had broken through the drifts, but trains on that road from the north and south were still snowbound.

Lincoln, Neb., March 19.—After twelve hours of disastrous activities, one of the worst blizzards had abated this morning. Stock men in the range country to the west reported a heavy livestock loss.

Louisville, Ky., March 19.—All Kentucky shivered today in the grip of a sudden cold wave, the mercury having dropped fifty degrees in 12 hours. It was four above zero this morning.

Dallas, Tex., March 19.—Texas today is in the throes of the coldest weather of the winter. The drop in temperature was accompanied by a piercing north wind. In some sections it reached the velocity of a gale. The temperature in Dallas early today was above zero. Freezing temperatures extended to the Gulf coast.

The fruit crop in many sections has suffered severely.

STORM HIT CATSKILLS WESTERN SLOPE HARDEST.

Part of the roof of Church Hill Hall, Stamford's biggest summer hotel, was blown off by the severe wind storm which visited Delaware, Greene and Schoharie counties last Friday. In the same village the front of the A. & P. store was blown in.

The western part of Greene county also suffered severely. At Windham the smokestack of the Windham Elgin Creamery was blown down and the plant damaged to such an extent that it was necessary to send all the milk usually received there to Prattville instead.

The western slope of the Catskills suffered most severely, and the mountains acted as a windbreak for the eastern slope and the country beyond, which scarcely felt the effect of the wind.

This action has not yet been taken by the Public Service Commission.

RED STREAK A "STORM DOG" SAY SAULORIEN

Considerable interest is being taken in the red streak, which appeared in the sky on Thursday night, by scientists at Poughkeepsie. The theory was advanced on Thursday that the streak was the reflection of a fire at Verbank which took place about the same time the pencil shaped streak appeared.

However this theory was discredited by residents of Millbrook who stated that they could see the reflection of the fire at Verbank to the south of their village and at the same time the streak of red to the north of the village.

One of the most interesting unofficial commentaries on the display was that of sailing men who said they identified the streak as a "storm dog," well known to seafarers, and regarded as the portent of weather disturbances of a violent nature.

There ought to be some Kingston prophets who have an opinion in regard to this even though we haven't a college observatory to study it out along scientific lines.

SEVERAL DRUNKS WERE IN COURT

It Looked Like Old Times in Police Court This Morning—William Scott Threw Milk Bottle Through Window—Other Cases Heard.

With three drunks facing the bar of justice in police court this morning it looked like old times before the Eighteenth Amendment went into effect.

William Scott of Second avenue, arrested by Officer Hess, was the first man arraigned. Sergeant Hanley said that Sunday the police had received a hurry call from Scott's home stating that William was drunk and had hurled a milk bottle through the window. When Officer Hess arrived William left the house. He was found and placed under arrest on a charge of public intoxication and using indecent language. He paid a fine of $10.

Harry Orris of Saugerties and Edward Terpening of Newport, R. I., were found drunk on Hasbrouck avenue, near East Union street, on Sunday by Officer Dempsey. This morning each contributed $5 to the city treasury.

Officer Shoemaker on Sunday afternoon arrested Nathan and Sam Feldman and Benjamin Van Etten, taxi drivers, on a charge of soliciting fares while standing more than five feet from their cars on Railroad avenue. Pleas of not guilty were entered and the hearings adjourned to Wednesday morning.

HUDSON RIVER W. C. T. U. MEETING

Following is the official report of the W. C. T. U. Hudson River Regional Conference held at Poughkeepsie March 14, at W. C. T. U. headquarters, 12 Cannon street:

This was the sixth conference held in New York state, this winter, and covered six counties, Dutchess, Orange, Columbia, Putnam, Greene and Ulster. Not all had representatives present. Dutchess, Ulster and Orange had most delegates. Mrs. D. L. Colvin, vice-president of New York State W. C. T. U., was director of the conference. Mrs. George Brown of Highland was song leader.

Mrs. Hall, state lecturer, spoke on the topic, "Reaching the children" (through the many ways open, i. e. the Sunday school, "Scientific Instruction" in the schools and the "Loyal Temperance Legion." The home the most important, but, too often not fulfilling its task. Miss Helen Estelle, state secretary of "Young People's Branch," gave a very stirring address on the necessity of getting the young people enlisted in the temperance reform before so many other interests claim all their time and attention. Miss Margaret Sloat, state corresponding secretary, gave a demonstration on publication, having dressed a young woman in the different papers we publish, the Union Signal, National Woman's Temperance Work, state and the Young Crusader for the boys and girls and numerous leaflets. The new style of cape and panel effect were used on the dress, with a hat to match, all the latest style.

Plans of work for 1923 were divided in the following topics: "The Budget," "Dollar Dues," "Winning Members." These topics were discussed by local presidents, treasurers, led by Mrs. Colvin, director. If every local union paid dollar dues it would increase the revenue for local work and provide each member with the state paper. The budget plan of raising a dollar a year in addition for every member, increases the local county, and state treasury as 25 cents goes to state, 10 cents to county, leaving the balance for work at home. The campaign for one million members in the nation is on, and every union is asked to make a systematic effort to gain new members.

A file is to be kept at Washington, D. C., of the names of all our membership, so that members of Congress can know, if they wish, who are asking them to vote for reform bills, and how many from their district.

If the Association Against Prohibition can get such a list surely those who are in favor of the 18th Amendment and its enforcement, can not afford to lose the opportunity of putting themselves on record. The Rev. Mrs. Hudson, state evangelist, offered noontide prayer and gave a Bible reading.

At the afternoon session Mrs. Irene B. Taylor, state superintendent of citizenship, gave an address using a chart to show the number of voters who went to the polls and those who stayed at home in the counties represented. Mrs. Miller, National Director of Department of Women in Industry, spoke of the necessity of getting better laws and conditions for those who work outside the home.

Law enforcement was discussed by the Rev. J. J. Henry, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church, who spoke from the view point of the church. He emphasized the necessity of Christian men and women lining up when needed to carry weight on the right side. Spoke of "going with a large delegation from his church and other churches to the court room at the request of the judge," "the atmosphere being quite different, than when the other side only, were present." Mr. Schulte of Highland spoke from the business man's standpoint and told of his personal fight against alcohol. Dr. Elizabeth Theilburg, physician, at Vassar College, a member of the W. C. T. U., dwelt on the help to be gained from cooperating with women's clubs and the mutual benefit derived from working together.

Mrs. Boole, our state president, came late in the afternoon, and gave an account of the hearing at Albany, and other important matters pertaining to our work, especially the plans for increased membership. Mrs. Colvin spoke on state and national legislation, after which Miss Glass of the County and City Clubs was introduced, and expressed gratification that the W. C. T. U. and the clubs she represented were in such harmony.

About 150 persons attended the banquet at the Windsor Hotel. A fine dinner was served and much enjoyed. The after dinner speeches were made by the mayor of the city, George D. Campbell, Dr. J. A. Jones, pastor of Dutch Reformed Church and Dr. Ella A. Boole, president of New York State W. C. T. U.

Miss Helen G. H. Estelle, toast mistress introduced each one in a very happy way, which, added to the good feeling of the company. The speeches were full of encouragement for future work. There is no word of recall from the leadership or the rank and file, and regardless of difficulties the organization expects to "keep on keeping on."

Mrs. Janette C. Beach, state lecturer, gave two readings which were much enjoyed. A piano duet was rendered by two young people from Beacon, and songs were sung with much spirit during the day and evening.

All voted the conference a great success.

PROF. TONKS'S SECOND LECTURE

Italian Artist Giotto and His Immediate Successors Are Considered.

Prof. Tonks of Vassar College gave his second lecture on the Evolution of Italian Painting at St. John's parish house on Saturday afternoon. Giotto and his immediate successors were the artists considered by the lecturer, who afterward showed many reproductions of their paintings.

Prof. Tonks told how there was no one really to carry on the wonderful work of Giotto who was so far ahead of the artists of his time in technique. He died in 1336, and after his death there was no one to develop the art of painting comparable to Giotto. After Giotto's death Siena, Florence and Umbria were the places in Italy where Giotto's successors painted their pictures. According to the lecturer, Giotto told his stories in short syllables, simply, showing the influence of the simple life and teaching of St. Francis of Assisi. Giotto's godson (The Freeman reporter makes no attempt to give the Italian names of Giotto's successors for the most part, especially as so many of them were given what we would call nicknames by their co-workers) and pupil, although inheriting in a measure Giotto's mantle, was not as simple and direct as his master. With the ascendancy of the Dominicans and the prominence of St. Thomas Aquinas, complicated theology cast its influence over Italy and it was felt and reacted to by the painters immediately following Giotto. Their stories were told in polysyllables, with endless detail.

Bonanti, Clone, who like Giotto was a sculptor as well as painter; Martini, who possessed "a lovely sweetness of style;" Fra Angelico Gentile, Filippo Lippi; were among the artists made known to the audience. After the lecture, always full of human interest, the slides were shown picturing the frescoes and painting of these artists. Where necessary their main features were pointed out. Next Saturday Prof. Tonks will give his last lecture on Raphael, etc.

PRISMA GIRLS' PLAN FOR HELPING Y. W. C. A. FUND

The interest that has been shown in it in the past few weeks, indicates that a Y. W. C. A. for Kingston is likely to be an actuality. The funds necessary for it are the chief thing now to be considered. To do their share in this matter, the girls of the Prisma Society, of the high school, have come to the fore. Their plan is to provide some money for the fund by giving a concert, something that will be a pleasure to a large number of people, as well as an aid to the Y. W. C. A. project. This concert will be given in the auditorium of the school, this Friday night, commencing at 8:15, by the musical clubs of the Skidmore School of Arts. The program will include numbers by the Glee Club, the Madolin Club, and solos by several of the members. The workers for both the concert and the Y. W. C. A. are hoping that there are enough people interested in the plan to make the attendance at the concert a large one.

That there is something better, something surer, something more substantial in the way the Hupmobile is built does not need to be proven in words.—The Hupmobile itself goes on proving it year after year in the hands of every individual owner in the world.

MASK VEIL VOGUE

Face Covering Is Made of Many Different Materials.

Lace, Embroidered Chiffon, Fish Net, Metallic Tulle, Are Among the Favored Fabrics.

The renewed success of the coquetish "mask veil" has been very apparent in France this winter, notes a fashion writer in the Boston Globe. These quaint veils are made of many different materials—lace, embroidered chiffon, fish net, metallic tulle, etc. But always they are mysterious and becoming. Quite young girls can wear these veils with certain success; they are really little more than a frill attached to the hat brim, part of the trimming itself, and for this reason they do not look at all set or matronly.

One model is a beautiful turban made of suede kid and panne, quite a simple shape, but made uncommon by the clever way in which a long lace scarf, very fine and supple, is arranged. In the front it makes a mask veil which just reaches the tip of the nose. At one side it forms a sort of waterfall frill, and on the other side it is quite long and mingles with a length of wide ribbon.

The quaint little cloche model will appeal to many American girls. Nothing eccentric about this hat—a simple shape with large, very flat, flowers at either side, these flowers of obviously unreal order—just big decorative ornaments for a simple hat. The veil shown on this model looks like a birdcage veil, but it is not quite that. It falls long and straight from the hat brim and has some fine embroideries on the border.

Over the tricorne model, the veil of purple fish net is winsome.

NEW LONG SKIRTS ARE KIND

Bowlegs and Heavy Ankles Now Hidden from View by the Modern Elongated Garment.

Longer skirts, which are making a strong play for supremacy in the realm of feminine style, not only are supplanting the short ones which were an important element in creating the well-known "flapper," but they are doing much to standardize the lower limbs of the fair sex—so far as the casual observer is concerned.

"Not long ago," said the executive director of the Associated Dress Industries of America, "the variety of types of ankles in plain view of every passerby would easily remind one of the Chinese alphabet—no two alike. It would have been a difficult job to select from a random crowd of women and girls a complete chorus of the Foibles. Thin ones resembling pipe stems, shapeless in the extreme, occupied a place in the same picture with stout ones—architecturally built for supporting almost any load.

From now until further changes are made the lady of the land will reveal to the public gaze no more than eight or ten inches of lower extremity.

Smart Headresses.

Headresses are smarter than ever before. Of these, both jeweled and of rich metal fabrics, much might be written, for their role is a most important one. To the particular woman whose hair is not her greatest glory or whose locks are just growing in after hobbles, the elaborate headress comes as a godsend, and this is especially true of the American woman, who is rather negligent in the matter of going to her hair the admirable, well-groomed appearance achieved by the French woman.

Trimming for Hats.

Bits of moleskin cut in squares, diamond shapes and circles are combined with velvet flowers as trimming on bright-colored hats of felt and velours.

Causes of Death.

Every human death may be attributed to one of three causes—interference with respiration, known as asphyxia, or apnea; interference with the heart's action, known as syncope; interference with the nervous system, known as coma or shock.

NO ATLANTIC LEAGUE HERE

Baker, Who Once Played Here, Seeks To Place Eighth Team And Franchise in Kingston.

Milton Baker, a representative of the Atlantic League, is in Kingston looking up the prospects of bringing a team here to represent Kingston in the league.

Mr. Baker held a conference with Manager Brown of the Kingston Colonials, who holds a lease on the Kingston Fair Grounds, and informed Brown that he had been talking with a young attorney in New York who informed him that Kingston would not have a team this year.

He was told that Kingston would be represented by a fast team again this season which would not join the Atlantic League.

Seven of the eight franchisees for the Atlantic League teams have been taken. The other cities which will be members of the Atlantic League teams have been taken. The cities which will be members of the Atlantic League are:

Wilmington, Delaware, where the Wilmington Club is owned by Al Burch, formerly of the Philadelphia National League Club.

Allentown, Pa., whose franchise is owned by Ernest Landgraf, who was owner of the Syracuse International during the years 1920, 1921 and 1922.

Pottsville, Pa., whose franchise is owned by Larry Chaney, formerly pitcher for the Chicago Nationals and Brooklyn Nationals.

Bethlehem, Pa., whose team is under the management and control of Dick Green and is strongly backed by Bethlehem industrial interests.

Lancaster, Pa., whose franchise is owned by Leo Groom, who was associated with Landgraf in the management of the Syracuse Association.

Trenton, N. J., whose franchise is owned by Mr. Dobbins of that city. Middletown, N. Y., whose franchise is owned by Dr. Charles M. Henrich, who for a long time was the financial backer of the Long Branch Cubans.

Maver Cox of Middletown is understood to be actively interested in the new Atlantic League.

The eighth franchise to complete the Atlantic League is now sought to be placed for Kingston by Mr. Baker, who was in consultation today with some of the most active baseball enthusiasts.

The size of most of the cities comprising the new Atlantic League will give the league a class B rating and it will play ball under the rules of the rest of the big leagues, all of whom are practically under the governing direction of Judge Landis.

John Conway Toole, former counselor for the National League, is president of the new league.

Mr. Baker has been active in playing and promoting baseball for many years. A number of years ago he played ball in Kingston, which then belonged to a league composed of a number of cities in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

"Hank" Ramsey at that time was manager of the Kingston League team.

LUTHERAN CHURCH CATECHISM CLASS

Interests Audience With Its First Found Knowledge of Biblical History—Rev. A. Schmidtke's Religious Training.

The examination of 25 Catechumens at the Spring Street Lutheran Church Sunday evening was witnessed by a large and deeply interested audience. The recitations of the catechism by the children evinced a thorough religious training, received in the Saturday school and at the catechetical instructions twice a week. In addressing the audience the Rev. A. Schmidtke very strongly emphasized the necessity of religious training, saying:

"As there is no and cannot be religious training in our public schools, because these schools are institutions of a purely secular state, it is the obligation of the church to make proper provisions for religious training of the youth. The Sunday school is a good thing but not sufficient. Having only one hour a week at its disposal, it is utterly impossible for the Sunday school to impart even approximately what the children ought to have in the way of Biblical history, and Bible doctrine. The parochial school would answer the purpose, but not every congregation is able to maintain such a school, therefore other provisions must be made to instruct the youth in the doctrine and practice of their church."

In conclusion Pastor Schmidtke urged his people to send their children to the Saturday school which will reopen on Saturday after Easter, April 7th at 9 a. m. Children ten years of age are asked to enter the school and even younger children are admitted.

In thought for the Day.

The woman doctor in charge of the King Edward Memorial hospital at Rohtak in the Punjab states that on November 22 last a Brahmin woman in the hospital gave birth to five baby boys. All five are described as perfectly formed and of fairly large size. They and their mother were reported to be doing well on the 23rd, the day following.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAR. 19, 1923.

Von Tirpitz is quoted as saying that he is willing to forget England's "barbarous methods of warfare." Somebody ought to suggest to him that if the tiger should offer to forget the cruelty of the house that he has just bitten, his acquaintances would laugh.

New Jersey has an enviable reputation among the states for quick application of justice when a crime is committed. The record was followed on February 14, when a murderer was executed for a murder committed on December 27. Forty-nine days from crime to punishment furnishes the deterring example to the rest of the people that is the real object of capital punishment. The longer the penalty is delayed, the less public benefit is derived from its application.

This is a land of equal opportunity in many respects. Every boy has an equal opportunity with every other boy to become President of the United States. Every boy has an equal opportunity with every other boy to become a successful farmer, a successful merchant, a successful manufacturer, a successful banker, a successful college professor, or a successful editor. There are a few doors, however, that are absolutely closed. The number of boys who can become apprentices to bricklaying or plastering is limited. There the boasted equality of opportunity in America has its limit.

NO MORE LOVE LETTERS?

Are there to be no more love letters? That is said to be the view of Georges Faes, "the last public scribe" of Paris, who is going out of business "because the telephone has displaced love letters"—the telephone, the typewriter, the telegraph, and modern mechanical advances in general. The hurrying world has come to the end of an era in this as in other particulars. No more will be written volumes of love letters, literary as well as tender, such as those of the Brownings; no more will love-smitten youths and maidens go to public scribers to set down their hearts' messages in correct and forcible phrase. So, at least, thinks Georges Faes as he shuts up his shop with a sigh and turns away.

But there is a wide world outside of Paris, London and New York. There are still millions of the semi-literate, if not of the illiterate, who are not able to write such passages of sentiment as they would wish the loved one to read, and even where the lover is a ready writer brief and occasional telephone communications, though delightful and eagerly sought, are hardly a satisfactory substitute for precious words on paper which can be read and re-read both morning and evening. The advance of universal education may drive the public writer of love letters out of business, but surely love letters will still be written, outside of the big towns if not in them. Let us hope so, for otherwise the world will lose something of real value as well as of great romantic interest. Only the trifler, fighting shy of written vows, can welcome an era barren of love letters.

TASTING THEIR OWN POISON.

It appears that the Irish republicans, irregulars or rebels, as they are variously termed, are guilty of making barricades across roads and bridges, not as defenses behind which to fight their enemies, but merely as means of killing those sent to clear the obstructions away. The moment the work of removal begins an explosion occurs, the barricade being nothing but "trigger mines." After discovering how perilous it is even to touch these works, the Free State forces have resorted to the expedient of compelling captured rebels to remove the obstructions, and in a single day recently this resulted in the death of eight prisoners at one barricade and four at another, together with the wounding of two Free State guards.

As the prisoners forced to work in such peril, often at the cost of their lives, are not known to be personally responsible for the setting of the traps, the moral right to employ them thus has been questioned and even pronounced cruel and wrong. But would it be any less cruel and wrong to send Free State soldiers to practically certain death, thus encouraging the trap-setters to continue and multiply their assassins' work? Putting military prisoners in positions of danger is contrary to the usages of civilized war, but the "irregulars" can hardly pretend that this method is civilized, and the Free Staters, as they thus meet desperate need with a terrible remedy, can at least contend that their course tends to force more restraint upon their enemies and to eliminate some part of the savagery from the lamentable conflict.

2. Please print a full list of wild fruits a robin will eat.
3. What is the best way to keep snakes in captivity and what should be their food?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes

Answers to Previous Questions.
1. My nasturtiums were all covered with black specks this year. What can I do to keep such troubles away?

We can only guess at black aphids. Use a spray of tobacco tea, or prepared nicotine, spraying under the leaves and on to stems, as well as on top, begin when the plants are young.

2. Are any of the apex meat eaters?

Yes, though a vegetable diet is more common with most species. Manosels are in a wild state largely insectivorous, and in captivity need some meat. The small monkeys of the New World hunt insects and eat birds in addition to a fruit diet. Chimpanzees eat eggs, fledgling birds, lizards, etc. In the wild state, and as captives become fond of meat.

3. Is there any special way to start looking for birds, for a beginner?

Watch places where birds feed or nest, as shrubbery, roadside tangles, brush at the edge of woods, pastures, orchard and shade trees, and the neighborhood of brooks, rivers or ponds. Don't try to look at a bird between you and the light, as its colors won't show up. Wear dull colored clothes, move quietly, hide close to some cover-like bushes and use a glass. A bird bath near home will bring many birds close enough to study.

ONE OF FIRST PAPERS THAT SOLD FOR A CENT.

In the window of Safford & Scudder, Wall street jewelers, is shown a copy of the first edition of the Morning Herald, printed in New York city on May 4, 1835. This is the first daily publication by James Gordon Bennett & Company, which at that time was located at 20 Wall street in the basement.

The paper is a small four column paper which in accordance with the custom of the time has no headlines, but each item is paragraphed and runs continuously. The paper sold for one cent, $3 a year. In the editorial column appears a statement of the publishers in which is stated that the intention of the publishers is to give the people a cheap daily paper which will contain all of the latest news and will compete with the other "high priced" papers of the day. It is a four page paper and on the inside page is an article about the explosion of the boilers of the "Advocate," a river steamer at Coeymans. No heading is placed over this item although it states that from 12 to 15 people were supposed to have been fatally injured or dead as a result of the explosion. The paper was loaned by one of the traveling salesmen who visit the firm selling jewelry.

Although the paper came out as a daily an article appears stating that it will be a few days before another issue will appear as time is needed to get the office arranged.

PROTECTED HOME CIRCLE CAMPAIGN FOR MEMBERSHIP

The Protected Home Circle have started a membership campaign through the Hudson Valley.

Twenty-five years ago organizers came through this part of the state to establish the Protected Home Circle.

The results received from their efforts were very satisfactory.

Special work is now being done in Highland, Poughkeepsie and Port Ewen to increase the present membership of these local circles, instituted so many years ago.

The Circle at Ulster Park, known as Ulster Park Circle No. 222, has been transferred to Ulster Circle No. 216 Port Ewen.

The territory between Kingston and Esopus is now under the jurisdiction of Ulster Circle, No. 216 Port Ewen.

It is the intention of the district deputy to continue this drive through the Circles at Kingston and Saugerties as soon as the above mentioned Circles have been thoroughly revived.

4156. Kasha cloth or Canton crepe would be suitable for this model. It has simple lines. The plait fullness at the sides gives additional width to the skirt. This is a model that is easy to develop.

The pattern is cut in 3 sizes: 16, 18 and 20 years. It requires 4 1/2 yards of 40 inch material for the 18 year size. The width of the dress at the foot with plaits extended is about 27 inches.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12 cents in coin or stamps by The Freeman Pattern Department, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

TROUT SEASON TO BE CHANGED

Governor Expected to Sign Bill Making Opening April 16 and Minimum Length Seven Inches.

Although the trout season opens April 7, as the law stands at present, there may be a change if a bill now before the governor for his signature is approved and signed. This bill would open the season on April 16 and close it the day after Labor Day. By the bill as passed by the senate and assembly, the size of trout to be taken would be increased from six to seven inches in length. This later date of opening the season would not affect the trout season in this section very much as there is little fishing before the middle of April or first of May on account of the high, cold water and the amount of snow water during the early part of the season. There is every indication that the bill will be approved by the governor.

Why You Should Buy

WHITE TRUCKS

Reason No. 7

The Manufacturer's Policy

The policy behind White Trucks is economical transportation—to provide a motor truck capable of doing the most work for the least money. This is the central idea about which every consideration revolves—design, output, price, quality, service, sales. During over twenty years of White progress this policy has been steadily adhered to. The one aim of the White organization is dependable, low cost truck performance.

YACHT HOUSE BROUGHT $300

Attorney R. G. Groves as Auctioneer
Sold Kingston Yacht Club House
On Abel Street Saturday—Bought
By John A. Fischer.

The club house of the Kingston Yacht Club on Abel street was sold at public auction Saturday afternoon by Robert G. Groves, attorney for the club, who officiated as auctioneer. The building was bought by Ex-Alderman John A. Fischer of Abel street for $300. Under the terms of sale the building must be removed from the premises.

The Kingston Yacht Club some time ago decided to disband owing to lack of interest and the falling off in membership. Since the automobile became popular interest in yachting has gradually grown less. The yacht club in the early days of its existence was very popular with the younger folks of the city and had a large membership.

BOOK TELLS OF GOVT. ENCOURAGEMENT OF THRIFT

A very attractive booklet issued by the U. S. Savings System tells what the government is doing to encourage the people to practice economy and thrift. About twelve years ago the Postal Savings System was established, chiefly for the benefit of the foreign-born who would trust their earnings only with the government for safe keeping. During the war the national savings movement grew in importance when war savings stamps certificates were sold to persons of small means who wanted a safe investment, and who patriotically wished to meet the requests of the government for money to carry on the war. But these savings securities were not adapted to after-war conditions, and a new method to carry on the savings movement was devised. The government Savings System was reorganized and Treasury savings certificates were issued to take the place of war savings securities. New life was injected into the system and it is now working upon broad lines. It is conducting a campaign of education to teach the people to save; to have them avoid the swindling operations which take hundreds of millions of hard earned money from them; and, it is offering for sale a sound, safe and convenient form of investment in denominations within the reach of all, and which are fully explained in the booklet.

BIGELOW LECTURES ON JAPANESE IN PARIS.

The European edition of the New York Herald, published at Paris Friday, March 2, contains the following:

Poultney Bigelow, the American author and traveler, spoke before the Societe de Geographic Commerciale in Paris yesterday on "Fifty Years of Contemporary Japan." Delivering his address in French, he recalled his first visit to the Mikado's domains, when he was wrecked off Yeddo Bay, and the recent tour he has made of the Japanese dominions. Giving full credit to the wonderful achievements of the people and their rulers, Mr. Bigelow argued that it would be nothing short of a crime if hostile relations between this enterprising land and America were to mar the record of Japanese progress. Mr. Bigelow has five times visited the Far East in the interests of his Oriental studies. On his last voyage he enjoyed the unique honor of being the first non-official admitted to private audience by the Empress Regent.

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE FLOUR'S COMPLAINT

"I can't help but think it is a pity," said the flour in the flour barrel.

Its cover was off and it was talking to the apples in another barrel near by.

"What is the trouble?" asked one of the apples.

"Well," said the flour, "I heard some people talking and one of them said: 'Oh, I saw the first little spring wild flower today, how it did rejoice my heart!'"

"Now that made me feel quite another matter," said the flour. "I don't think it is fair. In fact, I am sure it is not."

"Why not?" asked the apple. "Why not?"

"Because," said the flour, "here they were praising this little wild flower as they called it and making such a fuss over it, and here am I, tame and gentle flour and they don't make a fuss over me."

The apple nudged some of its family and they all rolled about a little and chuckled in their apple fashion.

"What's the matter, apples?" asked the flour.

"It was very mean to make so much of a fuss over a little wild flower," the flour repeated, "when I'm so good and well-behaved."

"Is that all the credit one gets for being good? To have creatures rave over something wild and dreadful and not say a kind word for the good, sensible stay-at-home flour which is satisfied with its home barrel and doesn't go about losing its head because it is spring?"

"I don't hide and then appear, wild as can be, as this flower evidently did."

"I'll explain," said the first apple, "for truly you are very foolish."

"In the first place the wild flower, the people spoke of was a flower of a plant—a growing flower, something which had come up out of the earth or which had appeared from a bud upon a bush."

"I don't know what kind of a flower they meant but it was something different from what you think it is."

"You see we've been on trees and we know something about the outdoor world and flowers and leaves and so forth."

"And when they spoke of it as being a wild flower they did not mean that it was naughty. They meant that it was a flower which was to be found in the woods or along the roadway or in a field or by a brook."

"They did not mean that it had been hiding naughtily and then had suddenly appeared."

"They meant that it was the first one to put in a spring appearance for you know the winter time is not the time for flowers in most parts of the country."

"Then you see they spell their family name differently—these flowers of the garden and the woods, from the way your name is spelled."

"A flower which is not a wild flower is a garden flower or a hot-house flower, one that has been cultivated, but a wild flower doesn't mess a naughty or a bad flower. Dear me, no! Never that."

"And flour, you're appreciated. They like you when they put you in cake and biscuits and bread and pancakes and pie crusts. Of course they do! They think you're just the thing for dumplings."

"But you're not flowers of the outdoors, you're flour for cooking. You're very useful in your own way."

"Don't be discontented because a dear little brave flower which comes up in the early spring receives some praise. It too! courage for to dare come up for snow may still bury about and cold winds may still come."

"Yet the little flower came to say to the people, 'Spring is here! See, I bring you the message of the early spring!'"

"You are safe from harm and cold and frosts and snow in your good strong barrel, so be not harsh on the little flower which is praised, for the little flower deserves the praise."

"And remember there is all the difference in the spelling of the two names."

"Ah," said the flour, "now we understand many things and we will not complain any more. We quite understand."

"And the flour helped to make most delicious dishes after this to show that it wanted to do its best and that it was contented."

FOOD FOR OCCASIONS

A tasty breakfast dish is always appreciated, for most cooks find the preparation of breakfast the most difficult of meals to escape monotony.

Cuban Eggs.—Cook together five minutes one-fourth cupful of sausage meat and one teaspoonful of grated onion. Add to the pan six beaten eggs, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper, and stir until the eggs are creamy. Pour over slices or rounds of buttered toast on a platter and garnish with slices of fresh tomato sprinkled with chopped green pepper.

Terrapin Chicken.—Chop together two cooked chicken livers, two cooked eggs and mix with two cupfuls of cooked chicken, cut into small pieces. Season with salt and pepper to taste and a small grating of nutmeg.

Melt three tablespoonfuls of butter in a frying pan, add two tablespoonfuls of flour and one cupful of ised chicken stock and cream. Cook until smooth, add the chopped mixture, cover and simmer for ten minutes. Before serving add the yolk of an egg, beaten with two tablespoonfuls of cream, one teaspoonful of lemon juice; stir this into the hot mixture and pour into timbale cups, custards or into a pretty deep dish.

A cornstarch pudding, or a plain cottage pudding is good with:

Butter Scotch Sauce.—Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, add two tablespoonfuls of browned flour, stir to a paste, then add three-quarters of a cupful of water and cook until smooth. Add one-fourth cupful of molasses, one tablespoonful of vinegar and one cupful of brown sugar; let boil up once and it is ready to serve. This sauce is delicious served poured over ice cream.

Thousand Island Dressing.—Add one cupful of olive oil to one cupful of mayonnaise dressing; add one teaspoonful of vinegar, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, a dash of cayenne, one teaspoonful each of chopped pimientos and green pepper and olive. Mix well, heat in one-half cupful of chili sauce. This dressing will keep.

And flour, you're appreciated. They like you when they put you in cake and biscuits and bread and pancakes and pie crusts. Of course they do! They think you're just the thing for dumplings.

"But you're not flowers of the outdoors, you're flour for cooking. You're very useful in your own way."

"Don't be discontented because a dear little brave flower which comes up in the early spring receives some praise. It too! courage for to dare come up for snow may still bury about and cold winds may still come."

"Yet the little flower came to say to the people, 'Spring is here! See, I bring you the message of the early spring!'"

"You are safe from harm and cold and frosts and snow in your good strong barrel, so be not harsh on the little flower which is praised, for the little flower deserves the praise."

"And remember there is all the difference in the spelling of the two names."

"Ah," said the flour, "now we understand many things and we will not complain any more. We quite understand."

"And the flour helped to make most delicious dishes after this to show that it wanted to do its best and that it was contented."

The date for this white shower will be announced later and it is hoped that those interested in the home will avail themselves of this opportunity for helping.

K. OF C. FOURTH DEGREE AT ALBANY, APRIL 29

An event of considerable interest to the members of the Knights of Columbus in this vicinity is the announcement of the grand exemplification of the Fourth Degree for the Third New York District which will take place in Albany on April 29th, upon what is expected to be one of the largest classes ever advanced. It will be the occasion of the members of the order from all parts of the state gathering in that city on that day to witness the ceremonies in connection with the conferring of the degree. The banquet which will be tendered to the candidates is to take place at the Ten Eyck Hotel at the conclusion of the degree and which will be addressed by members of the order, prominent in official and civil life. The entire affair will be under the direction of James J. Nolan, Albany, master of the Fourth Degree, who will shortly announce the details and the assisting committees.

Hair Often Ruined By Careless Washing

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is Multisided coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Multisided in a cup or glass with a little warm water is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub the Multisided in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Multisided coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy, it is very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Multisided.

George Baker
Baker, Ralph Baker

A nation-wide effort is being made to save from the gallows Ralph Baker, a 15-year-old mountain boy from Durham, Georgia, and his 23-year-old brother, George. The boys were convicted of killing a deputy sheriff and sentenced to death. It is said little Ralph intervened in a fight in which his brother and the deputy were engaged and shot the man when he feared his brother would be severely beaten. The boys have been reprieved until April 13, and the Prison Commission has recommended that the sentence of the younger be commuted to life imprisonment.

ROSSBACK BACK WITH RED HOOK TEAM

Will Not Report to Baltimore This Season.

"Lefty" Rossback who pitched for the D. and H. Generals of Water-villet last season along with the Red Hook Regulars will again appear in George Miller's line-up this year it was learned on Saturday. Rossback is not to report to Baltimore who put him on their roster earlier in the season, but will stay in semi-professional baseball.

Tommy McCombs, Joe Start and Grant Casserly, former Schatz players, are also members of the Red Hook Club.

COLONIALS ARE GETTING READY

This season the Kingston Colonials will have one of the fastest teams in this section in the field, and Manager Lou Brown is busy rounding up players. It is expected that McCue, who covered third for the Red Hooks last season, will appear with the Colonials this year. McCue is anxious to sign up, and will be signed if he agrees to the terms that have been made him.

"Bud" Culliton will not be in Kingston before March 28, at which time it is expected he will sign up for the season. It is a question whether "Red" Fogarty, of the Peekskill A. C., of Brooklyn, will appear with the Colonials this season. He was anxious to play here, but since then the manager of the Peekskills stated to Manager Brown that Fogarty would be with the Peekskills until July or August, at which time he was coming to Ulster county with a squad of about 40 boys who would camp out for those two months near Saugerties. Fogarty is anxious to play with the Colonials in July and August, but it is hardly likely he will be given the opportunity, as Manager Brown is anxious to sign up only players who will be with the team the entire season.

LUCK IN LIVES OF MUSICIANS

Some of the Greatest Seem to Have Had Lifelong Fight With Untoward Circumstances.

Musicians who wait like Mr. Mcawber for something to turn up may have a long time to wait. Luck both good and bad unquestionably plays a part in every man's career. Many of the world's greatest musicians were born unlucky and suffered in consequence. Though he never knew it Schubert was, as they say in the West, "plump unlucky." He thought he was in luck whenever he got a square meal, and was always rejoicing whenever he got enough paper on which to transcribe the musical ideas teeming in his brain. He was distinctly out of luck, the world owed him something more than music paper on which to write immortal songs.

Wagner had to wait about forty years before his luck broke. He never really emerged from obscurity until a lunatic saw what others failed to see, and Ludwig of Bavaria, a crazy king, gave him a chance. This was indeed luck, but Wagner prepared for it by writing masterpieces.

Mendelssohn was lucky before he was born. He selected the right parents and was born rich. He was unlucky, however, in being born at the wrong time. He died too soon, broken-hearted over the death of his sister Fanny, from a nervous disorder. Had he lived in modern times the chances are that his life would have been saved.—Montreal Family Herald.

CLOCK GAVE DEATH WARNING

Peculiar Circumstance Reported From New York, and Another From Liverpool, England.

The family clock seems to become such an intimate part of the household that superstitious stories regarding its movements—especially in times of death or peril to the owner, find ready credence. Among the strange tales is one of a clock that gave warning of the death of its owner. In a certain merchant's house in New York there stood a clock that had been going steadily for many years. One day it stopped at twelve o'clock. At twelve o'clock precisely the merchant died in the hospital and at the same moment his mother also died of grief. There was apparently nothing wrong with the clock and no reason for its stopping. Another somewhat similar case occurred in Liverpool. A man who was a builder by trade, kept a small clock on his mantelpiece. At a quarter past eleven one morning the clock suddenly fell to the floor. When picked up it was still going and had apparently received no injury. When the builder came home a little later he told his family that at a quarter past eleven that morning he had fallen from the top of a building, but had escaped without hurt.

Diamond Figures in History.

Thomas Pitt, the grandfather of the great English statesman who finally drove Napoleon the Great from power, made the fortune of his house, however, by the sale of the Regent diamond to the regent of France early in the eighteenth century, the prince of Orleans paying more than half a million dollars for it. The stone also made the fortune of Napoleon, as the directory pledged it to the Dutch government in 1800 for 6,000,000 francs, thereby raising the money with which Napoleon conducted the great campaign which won him the battle of Marengo.

How Ground Affects Wind.

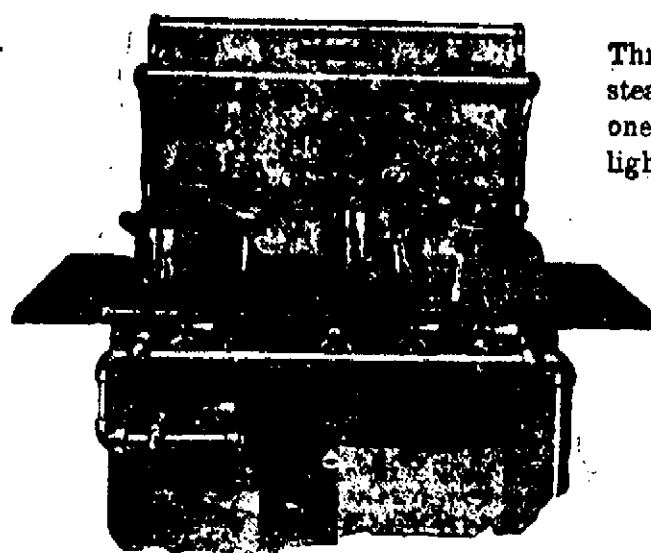

A curious instance of the effect of the shape of the ground upon the wind blowing over it was noted by a Frenchman experimenting with kites in France. When a north wind floated the kite the latter kept its balance easily, but when the wind came from the south or southeast the kite pitched and bobbed in a very irregular manner. The explanation was furnished by the character of the surface over which the wind had passed. Coming from the north, it had a plain country to blow over, but coming from the south and southeast it passed over broken hills, which set it into irregular puffs and undulations.—Washington Star.

Tenth Century Find.

DOGS CHASING DEER IN ASHOKAN SECTION

Resident Warns Dog Owners To Obey Law.

Ashokan, March 19.—Dogs are chasing deer in the vicinity of the Ashokan dam. One was chased from the west side on the dividing wall and jumped from the road east of the gate chambers, landing on the snow and ice some 40 feet or more below the road. Those who saw the deer said it got up and walked away and seemed to be hurt from striking the ice below.

There are several dogs that the sportsmen intend to kill if they are allowed to run.

If you care for your dogs keep them from running deer as the law requires as we intend to protect the game.

Supreme Court Recedes.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, March 19.—The United States supreme court recessed this afternoon until Monday April 9.

To Each Man His Duty.

In the morning when that sweet sun willingly, let this thought be present: "I am rising to the work of a human being. Why, then, am I dissatisfied if I am going to do the things for which I exist, and for which I was brought into the world?" Oh, have I been made for this, to lie in the bed of sloth, and keep myself warm?—Marcus Aurelius

In loving memory of our dear one, Inez Dunn passed away thirteen years ago.

Often we wander to the grave—said
And flowers we plant with care,
On the grave of our dearest one,
Darkness finds us weeping there.

In the graveyard softly sleeping
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies the one we love most dearly,
In her cold and silent grave.

Sleep on dear Inez
May your slumbers be
As gentle as our love for thee,
And when God calls us homeward,
May we meet in heaven above.

Angler Fish Lives on Sea-Bottom.

The family of the angler-fishes contains more strange forms than any other. Living on the sea bottom and seeking their prey by stealth, angler-fishes do not need powerful swimming muscles; consequently the size of the body and tail has become considerably reduced, so that the head, relatively to the size of the body, is unusually large (and villainously ugly).

Bald-Headed Lawmakers.

A spectacle once undertaken to count the bald heads in the British house of commons. He found that one-fourth of the members were bald-headed. He also found that one-fourth were red-headed. When he checked up the men of distinction in the house he found that a great many of them were red-headed.

KINGSTON TEAM LEAGUE CHAMPIONS

New York State Basketball League Officially Ended Sunday—Manager Morgenweck's Squad Establishes Record by Winning Both Seasons' Honors.

Mickey Husta, a member of the New York State Basketball team, attended a special meeting of managers of the league Sunday at Schenectady. Mickey represented the local representatives, substituting for Manager Morgenweck. With the exception of Manager Hepinstall, all the members were present. Financial matters of the league came up and were settled.

Following the league meeting, Kingston was declared champion of the New York State Basketball League, having won the honors for the first half and the second half season coming to a close Sunday. A number of games were still to be played before the termination of the second half but the upstate managers thought it best to cancel the games as the only team that had a possible chance to tie the Morgenweck squad would be Amsterdam. Great credit is due Manager Morgenweck in piloting his team to head the list in both seasons, a feat that has never been accomplished before. Kingston's team stands out as one of the best quintets in the country, and is accordingly recognized by the Original Celtics, champion ball bouncers of the world.

PORTCHESTER WON CHAMPIONSHIP

Beat Poughkeepsie And Earned Right To Play In State Championship Series.

Port Chester High School over the week-end earned the right, to go to Syracuse this week and represent the Hudson Valley in the State Championship series. On Friday night Poughkeepsie opposed the village team and went down to defeat by a 34-24 score. Poughkeepsie put up a game fight but the superior pass work of the Chesterites was too much for their defense which crumbled time after time. With five minutes to play the score was 24-23 in Port Chester's favor and for a few minutes it looked as though Poughkeepsie might go into the lead. However Port Chester dropped in five field baskets in rapid succession which left no doubt as to which was the best team.

On Saturday afternoon Port Chester lined up against Nyack which the day before had defeated Cornwall. This game was close and the lead alternated time and time again. Port Chester was in the lead by a 12-8 score at the end of the half. Nyack lead at the end of the third quarter. The final score was 21-18 in favor of Port Chester.

N. Y. M. A. RECORD IS IMPRESSIVE

The scores for all the games played by N. Y. M. A., the team that will play the K. H. S. varsity on Wednesday night, could not be gotten, but those of the big games of their season are given. In addition to those mentioned, there were games out of town nearly every Wednesday. The Academy beat Raymond Riordon twice, both times by big scores, and mercilessly ran away from the team of the Eastman Business College. Raymond Riordon scored one victory over Poughkeepsie High School this year, so a little comparison will give the relative strength of the Kingston and N. Y. M. A. teams. The game with Kingston is to be played in the gymnasium of the local Y. M. C. A. this Wednesday night.

The scores of the big home games that N. Y. M. A. has played this season are as follows:

Jan. 13—Erasmus High School

24; N. Y. M. A., 20.

Jan. 20—St. Peter's Prep., 24;

N. Y. M. A., 19.

Feb. 3—Commerce High School,

Feb. 17—Morris High School,

17; N. Y. M. A., 27.

Feb. 24—Boys' High School, 12;

N. Y. M. A., 40.

(Above opponents of N. Y. M. A. are schools in Greater New York.)

(Greenwich are the champions of New England high schools.)

ROCHESTER PLAYS HERE TONIGHT

Tonight at the armory the first of a series of exhibition games to be seen here will be played against Rochester. This game promises to be interesting with the first half played under amateur rules and the second half under professional rules. This game also brings together two champions of New York state, the local professional champions and Rochester, the A. A. C. champs.

Manager Morgenweck will in all probability use the same players that have been working in the past, Borgman and Husta forwards, with Powers center and Harvey and Tome or M. Husta guards. The players of the Rochester team are strangers on the local court with the exception of Barry who played here with Coaches.

Rochester has a win over the local champions, having beaten them at Rochester in a fast game. The local representatives will have some stiff struggle tonight in trying to even things up. The referee has as yet not been announced. The usual dancing will follow the game.

INTERCLASS LEAGUE GAMES AT HIGH SCHOOL

Friday afternoon, the Freshmen of K. H. S. had quite a victory, when their basketball team defeated by a score of 14-11 the sophomores, the leaders in the interclass league until that defeat. The same afternoon, the seniors, trimmed the juniors 20-14, evening up their standing in the league with that of the sophomores. Both games were full of pep from beginning to end. Joy was largely responsible for the freshmen's win, scoring ten out of the fourteen points. In the other game, Levy was big man with twelve points to his credit.

Missed the Car!

A firm of car manufacturers secured a fine testimonial in a letter from a quondam owner lamenting that he had been left by his wife, who had gone off in the car. Why exactly he should look to the makers of it for sympathy one cannot understand, unless he expected a new car gratis, but he informed them that he did not know how he was going to get on without the car! Of course, they could hardly be troubled with any need he might feel for his wife.

BORGSMANN SLOW IN ARRIVING

Morgenweck Really One Who First Gave Him Chance in Fast Company—Now They All Want Him—Kept Three Teams in Running.

Kingston fans who have been accustomed to see Benny Borgman, the leading scorer in the state basketball league, pile up large scores in practically every game, may be interested in the fact that, although Borgman has had his keen eye for the hoop, it took many years for him to win recognition in basketball circles.

Borgman's home town was Paterson in New Jersey. As Kingston fans probably know, Paterson has always had the highest type of professional basketball, and although Benny was brilliant, Paterson managers could not see him in the light of a player of sufficient ability to play with their teams. Now they are falling over each other to sign him up. But that is another matter. Benny had been playing with semi-pro teams in Paterson and usually he was the leading scorer in the games. In 1920, a team of his, composed of a number of unknowns, played the Klean Maids for the championship of Paterson. The Klean Maids was a Paterson five made up of players recognized as being the best. Kerr, Simpson, Artus, Harvey, Powers and Jacobs made up the Maids team. But on Benny's team were Jaffe, Campana, Murphy, Snyder and Borgman himself. It surely did look as if the Klean Maids would have a picnic with their unskilled rivals.

The first game, as prophesied by all, was a win for the Maids. The next game, however, the Riversides won, mainly through the work of the local flash, who scored the highest total of the game, 11 points. The attendance at this game fell because the fans thought there would be no contest to the game. But Benny fooled them.

In the third game the Maids came back with a win, but the attendance doubled. The crucial game arrived. The Klean Maids had won two, and the Riversides had won one. Should the Maids win the next game, they would have won the series. A record attendance was waiting for Borgman to lead out his newly made heroes. Benny played his head off that night and scored 8 points, which again was the highest total of the game, but said to state, his team lost, 24 to 20.

Even after his sterling performance with the Riversides, Benny could never make his entrance into the big leagues in that section, and it was not until two years ago that the local management picked him up and added him to their team. Then the fun began. Kingston was made a champion overnight. Borgman's wonderful playing amazed local fans, and was instrumental to a great degree in putting them at the head of the state league, and keeping them there for two years.

After his big hit with Kingston, teams from all the cities where professional basketball is enjoyed began to bid for his services. In the Massachusetts Interstate League Springfield signed him up, and his appearance with that team was the cause for a sudden spurt. The Metropolitan League in New York City then added him and he has been leading that league in scoring since. Teams down in New Jersey and vicinity that never before recognized him, were only too glad to get the chance to bring him down there to play after his great playing here. And so it has been. Merely another case of the athlete with ability and no one to recognize him.

Kingston gave him a chance and Kingston is now reaping the benefits.

to the hungry man, but what a sad disappointment when the "kitchen queen" quits suddenly and the table looks anything but satisfying to a zealous appetite. When in doubt as to what to do, use The Freeman's "Help Wanted" Cent-a-Word Department.

He was just a staid old farmer,
And you never would have guessed
He was quite so fond of music
And had the very best.
He would whistle Sousa's Marches
Knew Farrar's Arts by heart.
And of all the newest musical shows
He knew the choicest parts.

He had listened to the artists
And to him was great delight
When the thought of W. G. Y.'s singing
He had heard night after night.
English, Japanese, Mexican, Italian,
One by one he could recall
Each bright star would this old farmer
Who had listened to them all.

So I marvelled at his knowledge
As I thought how far and long
This old gentleman must have traveled
To have heard so much music and song.
Till at length I had asked him,
And he said this loud Hi Ho
